Whether the tie-breaker is conducted in person or via electronic or teleconferencing means is a decision that resides in the sole discretion of the individual administering the tie-breaker. Should one Tenderer or both Tenderers decline to participate in and/or decline to attend the tie-breaker, the individual administering the tie-breaker shall assign “heads” to one Tenderer and “tails” to the other, as the context requires, and shall otherwise conduct the coin toss in accordance with the procedure identified above.
